MP defends appointment as a director

BANBURY MP Sir Tony Baldry said this week that he had acted properly by officially recording his appointment as a director for a property company.

He spoke out after he was appointed director of Werner Capital LLP in March, before listing a £5,000 payment in the Register of Members' Financial Interests.

He has since registered a further £20,000 advance payment covering earnings from the firm for April to July, for about six hours work a month.

Sir Tony said: "I made it clear in my election address at the last General Election that I had outside interests and if I were re-elected as the MP for Banbury, I intended to continue with those outside interests.

"When I was first elected as MP for Banbury in 1983 I was a practising barrister and a company director.

"With the exception of the eight years in which I was a Government Minister, in addition to being a MP, I have continued to be a practicing barrister and a company director.

"Much of the regeneration of Docklands and brownfield sites in East London and elsewhere has only been possible because of overseas investment and it is a matter of good news that so many people from overseas wish to invest in the UK.

"We now have to record not just the outside interests but the hours we work and the fees we receive.

"Whenever I receive a payment I record it in the register of members' interests."

TEMPORARY SOLUTION

By Alex Wynick

A PRIMARY school is having to build a temporary classroom to cope with the growing number of pupils in the area.

Harriers Ground Community Primary School, on Bloxham Road, has submitted a planning application to Cherwell District Council to install a temporary classroom.

It is expecting to have to cope with 70 new pupils at the school, which is part of Harriers Banbury Academy, after being told other schools were full.

Principal Fiona Hims said: "We were approached by Oxfordshire County Council because all of the local schools were already full. It's important children of that age are offered full-time education.

"We added a new class, which opened in January, bringing us up to 75 Year One pupils. It is now making great progress.

"In September they will all move up to Year Two and we need a modular classroom to be added adjacent to the current Year Two classrooms."

The short-term building would be used for five years, with the school hoping it will be able to construct another classroom by then.

The application said: "The installation of this modular building is for a five-year period, to cater for an increase in pupil numbers."

School faces a boom in pupils

"Within this timescale it is envisaged the academy will construct a permanent structure, whereby this modular building will be removed."

Mrs Hims said: "It will be a classroom for 30 children, with a cloakroom and toilet area.

"These modular buildings are very impressive and professional. I wasn't sure it was the right direction to take but I visited the temporary buildings at Dashwood Banbury Academy and was impressed.

"By September 2015 we want a brick building on the existing site for when we're at full capacity."

Earlier this year Oxfordshire County Council leader Ian Hudspeth warned schools could see the "return to the long-term use of temporary classrooms" because of a lack of Government funds.

In January, it was revealed the Government would not be maintaining current levels of investment in school expansion for Oxfordshire schools.

Just £3m has been allocated for 2015/16 and 2017/18, as opposed to the £16m the council was expecting.

And a further requirement of £8m had also been identified for 2017/18, meaning a potential shortfall of £19.3m.

LABOUR is hoping to romp to victory in Banbury at next week's Cherwell District Council elections.

Six seats in the town are up for election on May 22 and all but one are currently held by the Conservatives.

In last year's elections to Oxfordshire County Council, the Labour Party swept the board - taking all four of the town's seats.

District councillor Sean Woodcock, the party's group leader in Cherwell, said: "We are pleased with the response we have been getting, it is even better than we imagined."

"We are very confident we can take a number of seats across the constituency, particularly in Banbury. I think people are starting to realise that under this Government the wrong choices are being made."

"In Banbury this is shown by a doubling in the number of people using food banks and Labour is seen as the only alternative."

Sitting Conservative councillors Colin Clarke, Kieron Mallon, Tony Ilott and Alyas Ahmed are all hoping to win back their seats in Banbury Calthorpe, Banbury Easington, Banbury Hardwick and Banbury Neithrop.

All three are up against candidates from Labour, the Greens and UKIP.

Meanwhile, Conservative councillor for Banbury Grimsbury and Castle, Margaret Cullip, is standing down, with her party's candidate Tony Mepham going up against four rivals from Labour, UKIP, the Lib Dems and the Greens.

In Banbury Ruscote, incumbent Labour councillor Gordon Ross is standing down, with his party's candidate Barry Richards against Tory, Green and UKIP rivals.

And across the district the creation of Cherwell's Local Plan looks set to determine where people mark their ballot papers.

The Local Plan sets out where the district council thinks housing should go, but in the absence of one, planning inspectors can approve major schemes which the authority may find unacceptable.

This has happened in Bloxham where successive plans have been approved by an inspector after being rejected by the district council.

And a study commissioned by Oxfordshire's councils shows 22,800 homes need to be built in Cherwell by 2031.

Dickie Bird is chairman of the Cherwell branch of UKIP, which is standing in all Banbury wards but one ward in the district.

He said: "More houses need to be built, we understand that, but they have got to be built properly and with proper infrastructure."

"These developers just don't care and I'm afraid that the council is letting them get away with it. The council needs to come down hard on them."

"I think UKIP is ready to make a breakthrough. If you look at the last three or four elections our percentage of the vote has been increasing."

The battle for Banbury hots up

The Green Party is also standing in a large number of wards, with candidates in 13 out of 17 seats up for elections - and one in every Banbury ward.

The Lib Dems are only putting up two candidates in Banbury - in the town's Grimsbury and Castle and Hardwick wards.

Tim Empfert, the party's leader on the district council, said its focus was on Kidlington where it had more councillors. He said: "Kidlington has always suffered from a lack of investment compared to Bicester and Banbury."

Candidates vie for a Euro seat

AS WELL as voting for their local councillors, Banbury residents will also be able to vote in the European Parliament elections on the same day.

Together with the Council of the European Union and the European Commission, the European Parliament is responsible for deciding legislation and policy of the European Union.

All the main parties such as Labour, the Conservatives, the Lib Dems, the Greens and UKIP are contesting the election, including some more bizarre ones such as the Roman Party Ave.

The South East region elects ten MEPs by a proportional representation system called the party list.

This means the parties draw up lists of candidates and a number of seats are allocated to each party in proportion to the votes they receive.

Unlike in general and local elections, voters choose a party on their ballot paper rather than an individual.

Bobby all set to join world-famous stage school

Dancing boy with Billy Elliot dream

A BALLET dancer who dreams of dancing the world's stages is set to join a top London performing arts school.

Ten-year-old Bobby Ratcliffe will follow in the footsteps of super-model Naomi Campbell and the lead singer of Genesis, Phil Collins, when he starts lessons at the Barbara Speake Stage School in London.

The Banbury youngster has also landed himself a second audition for the hit London musical Billy Elliot.

Bobby said: "I used to be the only boy in my class. People say ballet is not for boys, but it is. I just ignore them and just get on with it. I would like to prove them all wrong and I am very excited to go to dance school.

"I want to be a professional ballet dancer. I love singing as well. I like to sing ballet songs and pop songs too."

Bobby was one of 180 young people at the first audition at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London.

He was thrilled to get a callback to play the role of Billy Elliot's best friend, Michael, and will be one of 25 young hopefuls at auditions at the end of the month.

The St John's Priory School pupil has regular lessons at the Susan Taylor Dance Academy in Banbury, where for a long time, he was the only male pupil.

He said: "I started dancing when I was three years old.

"It is really exciting news. I think Billy Elliot is really funny.

Bobby Ratcliffe, the boy with a dancing dream child protection at the Warriner School, Bloxham, said: "He has always been a dancer. He does ballet and modern and he just really enjoys it. I am really proud of him."

Bobby dreams of starring in the stage production of the film and joked that his favourite moments were watching Billy in his boxing gloves take on his first dance lesson.

He said: "It makes me laugh and it is very funny."

Jobs worry brews at coffee factory after merger

BOSSES at the Kenco coffee factory in Banbury say it is "business as usual" after it was announced the business would be merged with a rival.

Plant owner Mondelez International has announced it wants to combine its coffee arm with Douwe Egberts Master Blenders to create the second biggest coffee company in the world after Nestle. Almost 600 staff work at the plant, which is the largest of its type in Europe.

Asked about job security, spokesman Josephine Bradley said: "No business can offer guarantees, but we are confident Banbury will have a key role to play in the business."

"Decisions will be made by the new management team but the staff are our absolute priority. We are talking to them and making sure everyone is clear as more information becomes available."

Unite union national officer Rhys McCarthy said: "Over the coming days we will be seeking guarantees over jobs."

'It has the whiff of seeking to reduce the capacity of opponents'

Concern at cut to opposition's civic allowances

SCRAPPING some allowances for opposition councillors could damage local democracy, it has been claimed.

Oxfordshire County Council has cut the special allowances for most Labour councillors, while senior Conservatives will continue to be paid for their roles in running the authority.

This means members of the county council's cabinet continue to receive their "special responsibility allowance" of £12,565 each year on top of their £8,376 basic allowance but the £2,456 allowance for ten shadow cabinet members has been removed.

And the allowance for the leader of the opposition has been reduced from £14,660 to £12,565, while that for leader of the council remains unchanged.

Taxpayers' Alliance chief executive Jonathan Isaby said: "Councillors' allowances have risen considerably over the last decade or two, so any attempt to reduce that bill for local council taxpayers is to be welcomed.

"However, the shadow cabinet has an important part to play in scrutinising the actions of the council, so removing additional allowances altogether has the whiff of the council leadership seeking to reduce the capacity of its opponents to scrutinise them – which is potentially bad news for Oxfordshire residents."

County councillor Liz Brighouse, the Labour leader of the opposition, said: "One of the big problems we have is encouraging people to become councillors. The idea is that people are remunerated for the work they do.

"It is about ensuring that there is transparency and challenge in local democracy."

The proposals were made by an independent panel, made up of representatives from the voluntary sector, the business sector and the public sector.

A spokesman for the council said the total savings would be £10,000.

Council leader Ian Hudspeth said the scrutiny role would still exist. He said: "Anything to do with councillor allowances is always sensitive because we are aware that it is taxpayers' money and that's why we set up the independent panel."

Laura Price, the shadow cabinet member for adult social care, called for more radical changes to the allowances policy to make greater savings.

She said: "There's a concern when you move allowances away from the opposition party because they are there to provide scrutiny." Cultural and community services shadow cabinet member Susanna Pressel said: "I find it scandalous that several Conservative councillors are getting increased allowances at a time when many people have lost their jobs and wages are being held down."

John Sanders said he used his council expenses to subsidise long-distance travel costs, stationery and postage stamps.

He said: "It's a little bit disappointing that they've chosen to take money off the opposition and not off the cabinet – but I'm not particularly worried. It doesn't prevent me from doing anything."

John Tanner, shadow cabinet member for policy co-ordination, said Labour spoke out against the changes but voted in favour because they were recommended by an independent panel.

In its report, the panel said the changes had altered the emphasis of the role played by the opposition.

Man convicted of sex attack on boy

A MAN with learning difficulties has been convicted of sexually assaulting a boy under 13. Last Thursday, Paul Biggs, of Over Norton, was found guilty of carrying out the offence on September 1, 2007, against a boy who cannot be named for legal reasons. A jury in Oxford Crown Court cleared Biggs of one further count of sexual assault, two counts of inciting a child to engage in sexual activity, and one count of rape. He was released on bail and will be sentenced on June 12.

Sporting offer

BACK-to-hockey sessions are being launched for women – beginners or former players – at a Banbury hockey club. The sessions will take place at North Oxfordshire Academy, every Wednesday, from 7pm to 8pm. Entry costs are £10 for all sessions at Banbury. Contact Shiv Steele at marketing@banburyhockeyclub.co.uk for details.

Burglars strike

A VAN, cash, a camera and tools were stolen when burglars targeted business units in Adderbury over the Bank Holiday weekend. The burglaries took place in Station Yard between Friday, May 2, and Tuesday May 6. Call PCSO Lana Smith, from the Banbury rural police team, on 101.

Councillors' payments

- COUNCILLORS receive £8,376.96 a year in basic allowances.
- In the 2012-13 financial year, the county council paid more than £870k in expenses. This included £612k to its 76 members in basic allowances.
- Six councillors did not claim the full amount.
- It also paid out £224k in responsibility expenses for cabinet and shadow cabinet members and £37k in travel and subsistence expenses.

School: views sought

DEVELOPERS are asking for views on plans for a new primary school.

Oxfordshire County Council wants to build it on the new Longford Park development in Banbury.

With construction expected to be completed by 2016, the proposed school would initially admit 45 pupils per year.

As the new school will not be run by the county council, the authority wants residents' views on choosing which academy trust should take it over, and what links the school should have with the community.

The school would be part of a new 1,070-home development, which is under construction near Bankside.

Plans for a further 400 homes have been proposed in the Cherwell District Council's draft Local Plan for the site south east of Banbury on Oxford Road.

Planning permission was originally granted for the Longford Park development in 2009.

To submit comments, contact: longfordpark-manager@myconsultations.oxfordshire.gov.uk or write to Diane Cameron, School Organisation & Planning, County Hall, FREEPOST, Oxfordshire County Council.

All responses must be received by midnight, June 4.

Families flee fire drama

TWO fire engines were called to a smoke alarm that had been triggered by unattended cooking.

The occupier of the flat in Penrose Close, Banbury, and a neighbour were treated for possible smoke inhalation on Monday, May 5.

Crews then used high-pressure fans to clear out the remaining smoke from the flat.

Crew manager Piper said: "This incident highlights the dangers of leaving cooking unattended, and the benefits of having a working smoke alarm. Ensure you have a working smoke alarm, as it will give an immediate warning of fire and allow you to escape before the fire grows."

New stash of cash belonging to jailed conman is discovered

Judge ups payback order for trickster

Criminal William Vinson

A CAREER criminal serving nine years in prison for 101 distraction burglaries has been told to increase the amount he must pay back to £125,000, after an extra stash of money was found.

William Vinson posed as a new neighbour, a council worker and an electricity board inspector to target elderly people aged between 79 and 94 across the south and Midlands.

The 62-year-old was jailed at Oxford Crown Court in 2012 after he admitted 11 burglaries and asked for a further 90 to be taken into consideration by a judge.

Sometimes using the pseudonym Dave Knight, Vinson conned people in Southmoor, Checkendon, Stoke Row and Great Haseley, often posing as a neighbour needing change to pay a plumber.

Passing sentence Judge Anthony King called the defendant "despicable" and said he had carried out a "deliberate campaign that continued week after week".

Vinson, who at the time was living in Cotswold Terrace, Chipping Norton, was found to have made a total "benefit" of £148,136.08 from his crimes, which were carried out over two years.

Following an investigation by Thames Valley Police into his assets, he was told by Judge Patrick Eccles to pay back more than £112,000 or face a further two-and-a-half years in jail.

It was agreed at a hearing in June 2012 that this money would come from the sale of a mortgage-free house in Hill View Crescent, Banbury, that Vinson shared with his son, Craig.

But at a Proceeds of Crime Act hearing last Thursday prosecutor Jonathan Seely said financial investigators had now found a further £20,000, which had previously not been declared.

He told Judge Eccles officers had discovered the money was being held on Vinson's behalf by a firm of solicitors based in Peterborough.

Mr Seely said this meant the prosecution was now suggesting a "revised recoverable amount" of £132,000.

But James McCrindell, defending, said Vinson's property "was not sold for as much as predicted" and the new figure should be lower.

He argued that because his client had only received £100,000 from the sale of the house, the recoverable amount should be set at £120,000.

Judge Eccles set the repayment amount at £125,000 and said he would give Vinson 28 days to pay, with a six-month extension of his sentence if he failed to do so.

Mr McCrindell added: "During his sentence he has been doing his best to make use of all the options available to him. He has been working as a listener and helping others to read."

Budget store gets go-ahead

A NEW budget supermarket will be built in Chipping Norton after council planners last week gave it the go-ahead.

West Oxfordshire District Council backed the proposal to build an Aldi store on the former Highways Depot site at Cromwell Business Park, off Banbury Road.

There were concerns from the Midcounties Co-operative that it could affect trade in the town centre.

Local councillor Warwick Robinson warned areas like Abingdon and Bicester had suffered from the building of out-of-town shopping centres.

He said: "I fear it could have a negative impact on the vitality and vibrancy of the centre of Chipping Norton."

But town mayor Mike Tysoe said a poll showed that 70 per cent of residents had wanted the store.

He added: "The town needs it."

■ MPs claim Government figures are flawed

Challenge to need for more new homes

OXFORDSHIRE MPs and council leaders have vowed to challenge the county's calculated housing need of 100,000 homes.

Among them Conservative MPs Ed Vaizey and John Howell have called on the Government to urgently review the method for calculating the figures.

And the Campaign to Protect Rural England has employed a dedicated officer to expose the Government-imposed methodology as being flawed.

The Strategic Housing Market Assessment, which was published in March, recommends that councils build 40,000 more homes than their own previous targets by 2031. Mr Vaizey said: "Many local communities are now faced with levels of growth that will fundamentally change the nature of settlements."

"For example, demographic trends show that the Vale of White Horse needs 468 houses per year, yet the methodology leads to a figure of 1,028."

He wrote to planning minister Nick Boles and said: "I would be grateful if you and your officers could consider an urgent review of the planning methodology that leads to such massive numbers of homes being planned, so that more realistic outcomes result."

By Pete Hughes

Dr Howell backed the call, adding: "The SHMA is not a tested document. It is evidence only."

The county's four district council leaders, Cherwell's Barry Wood, Matt Barber, Ann Ducker and Barry Norton, all backed the call for an urgent review.

South Oxfordshire leader Ann Ducker said: "This is causing great concern and those that have looked at the methodology are questioning it."

Oxfordshire's council leaders will meet on Thursday, May 29, where Ms Ducker said she would like to use the meeting to work out how to challenge the SHMA.

West Oxfordshire District Council leader Barry Norton said his planning officers were already looking into the SHMA to see if the district's calculated need of 13,200 new homes was accurate.

He said: "I think the number is wrong for West Oxfordshire, and if our officers decide it is inaccurate we will be challenging it."

All councils are required by the Government to carry out regular SHMAs to ensure they are building enough homes.

Oxfordshire's five district council's contracted a partnership of private firms – GL Hearn Justin Gardner Consulting and SQW Consulting – to carry out the latest survey.

CPRE Oxfordshire has employed campaign manager Helena Whall to discredit the SHMA methodology and the arguments it is based on.

Dr Whall said: "We feel the SHMA is unsound, unacceptable and unwanted.

"We are not happy with the strategic plan for Oxfordshire.

"They want to provide more jobs and, therefore, they need more houses."

She also said she wanted to dispel the myth that building more houses would lower house prices.

She said: "Builders only build them if they can sell them."

Oxford City Council leader Bob Price and Oxfordshire MP Andrew Smith, however, backed the SHMA figure.

Mr Smith said: "You can always argue about these sorts of numbers, but the bottom line for me is that all the people coming to my advice surgeries and stopping me in the street say they are in desperate need of better housing."

Banbury MP Sir Tony Baldry said people needed to recognise an "increasing number of people wanted to come and live in Oxfordshire".

The Pro-Fit benefits

Protect your roof and you protect your most valuable asset - your home. Years of withstanding the UK weather can leave your home exposed to damp, condensation and decay.

But those all-important soffits, fascias, bargeboards, cladding boards, gutters and downpipes are easily forgotten - until something goes wrong!

Choose Pro-Fit products and they'll keep on looking good and protecting your property for years to come. Better still, you won't have to waste your valuable time up a ladder looking after them, because Pro-Fit soffits, fascias, bargeboards and cladding need no painting and minimal maintenance.

Low Maintenance

Pro-Fit roofing products cannot be damaged by sunlight, or the freeze/thaw cycle, insects or air pollution. Little maintenance is required, just occasional wipe clean with a damp cloth soaked in a weak solution of warm soapy water.

Comprehensive Guarantees

All our products are backed by a comprehensive guarantee against rotting, splitting or cracking with a full 20 year guarantee supporting the quality of the workmanship itself.

"We will beat any like for like genuine written quote - All of our employees are full time professional fitters, not sub-contractors"

■ More than 400 youngsters joined up last year

A numbers boom for county Scouts

THE number of Scouts in Oxfordshire has continued to rise – with more than 400 joining the movement last year alone.

An annual census showed there were 7,905 members in Oxfordshire, compared to 7,500 in 2013.

That is about 50 per cent up on its 5,349 members in 2005.

A record numbers of girls have also joined county groups, with 104 more, compared to 2013. This makes a total of 1,220 female members.

Deputy county commissioner Alec Stanworth said numbers were up because of the movement becoming more inclusive.

He said: "We have had groups set up in mosques – for example the 54th Oxford. Some of these groups have been really successful at bringing communities together.

"At the moment we are trying to set up a group at the Children's Hospital at the John Radcliffe, like they have at Great Ormond Street Hospital."

Student Becky Alexander, 21, who organises county camps, said: "Being a Scout Leader is one of the most fulfilling things I've ever done.

"It's something I can do on a flexible basis when I have enough time to spare. It's great helping young people in my local area get the most out of life and watching them develop week in, week out.

By Damian Fantato

"I've also picked up loads of transferable skills that I'm able to use in my job and wider life."

Scouting numbers have continued to rise for the ninth consecutive year with a total membership of more than 550,000.

Chief Scout Bear Grylls said: "I am super proud to see so many young people and adults learning new life skills, achieving personal rewards through Scouting in Oxfordshire.

"It is exciting to see Scout numbers continue to rise across the UK. The big reasons for this are that more and more young people are realising that Scouting can give them so much – whether it's the opportunity to be involved with some incredible adventures, learn practical life, outdoor and teamwork skills, or helping to improve their local communities.

"People don't want to miss out. Scouting brings them all together, empowers them and allows them to make a positive impact."

The Scout Association was founded in 1910 by soldier and writer Robert Baden-Powell.

■ THE Gospel Edge choir will be joined by Banbury's Got Talent finalists Sarah Mellor and the Skeptics for a concert to raise funds for a weekly activities club for the elderly. Banbury's Cluster Care group is a volunteer-run, weekly day-care club for the elderly, which provides meals and activities, such as art and craft, musical entertainment and quizzes, for elderly residents. Choir leader Caroline Watsham said: "I have been a visitor at Cluster on many occasions, singing to the members, and I know what a valuable resource it is. The volunteers do a fantastic job, giving up so much of their time, and it is a wonderful gathering place for the elderly folks, many of whom lead otherwise isolated lives. The Cropedy choir will perform at Mollington Village Hall, in Chestnut Road, tomorrow. Doors will open from 6.45pm. Tickets cost £6. Contact 01295 750442 for more information."

Festival cash for generators

■ HOUSING developer Taylor Wimpey has given The Bodfest Music Festival £1,500 to buy two power generators. The annual event in Bodicote will take place on July 12, from 11am to 11pm, at the Horse and Jockey pub, The Plough and The Spice Room. Bodfest committee chairman Glen Griffin said: "The generators will also be available for community groups – like the Scouts – to use throughout the year. We get a lot of support from villagers for Bodfest and everyone looks forward to it. Last year we had more than 3,000 people come along throughout the event."

By Sam McGregor

WHEN Paul Needle sets off on a 100-mile cycling race, the only thing on his mind will be beating a record set by his grandfather almost 90 years ago.

Back in 1925, Mr Needle's grandfather Percy clocked 5 hours and 23 minutes completing in the Balham 100-mile cycle ride.

As former serviceman Mr Needle, 46, continues his training in preparation for the gruelling 100-mile Prudential Ride London-Surrey challenge, his target is to beat that time.

In August, he will join 28,000 other competitors, to race from the Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park, through the Surrey countryside tackling a series of steep hills on the way, and finish at The Mall, central London.

Mr Needle, of Winston Drive, Banbury, said he took part in the race last year – completing it in just over six hours.

He said: "About a week after the event, I popped over to my parents' house. My mum put a big trophy that my grandfather had won on the table. It was for the Balham 100.

"I looked at his 100-mile race time and could not believe it.

"My grandfather is no longer with us but straight away I thought that had to be my goal this year."

Former air engineer Mr Needle, who served with the Royal Navy's Fleet Air Arm from 1984 to 1989, hopes his racing efforts will also raise cash for charity Blind Veterans UK.

Now a transport manager for Smiths & Sons (Bletchington) Ltd,

Mr Needle, was previously based on HMS Ark Royal, and as ground support at Culdrose, Cornwall.

He said: "Having been in the Forces, I wanted to raise money for a charity that supports veterans."

"When I heard about the work of Blind Veterans UK, which helps vision-impaired ex-service men and women, it really struck a chord."

Mr Needle, who grew up in Steeple Aston, where his parents, Roger and Linda, still live, took up cycling about three years ago after completing several triathlons.

Before his main challenge in August, Mr Needle plans to compete in slightly shorter events in Warwick and the New Forest.

He said: "The hills on the Prudential Ride London-Surrey challenge are massive."

"I don't know whether it's a good or bad thing knowing the course."

"The first time I took part I didn't know when the hills were coming. But it's so scenic, and the camaraderie between the riders is amazing."

Mr Needle's late grandfather, Percy, together with his great uncle Frank, who died in 1977, were founder members of the cycling group Oxford City Road Club in 1923.

Every year club members still compete for two cups in memory of Frank and his wife, Hilda.

■ Shortlist is revealed during event's 20th year

Companies line up for awards honours

THE shortlist for the county's top business competition has been unveiled – revealing the strength and depth of the local economy.

A total of 42 companies and individuals have made it to the shortlist in the Oxfordshire Business Awards, across 15 categories.

The winners will be named at a ceremony next month.

And it promises to be an even more special occasion, with the event celebrating its 20th anniversary this year.

Awards chairman Paul Lowe said: "The 20th anniversary year of the awards has produced one of the strongest list of finalists in the competition's history.

By Andrew Smith

"It reflects the vast diversity of the Oxfordshire economy, with companies of all shapes and sizes combined with some incredibly innovative individuals.

The awards ceremony will be a real celebration of the success of Oxfordshire business.

"It promises to be a fantastic occasion."

The list of finalists ranges from traditional businesses, such as the Hook Norton Brewery, vying for the Heart FM Marketing Excellence Award, and Kidlington-based electrical contractor Darke & Taylor, to fast-growing firms like Ardley Travel in Witney, to hi-tech companies such as Harwell-based Oxford Space Systems.

Barry Ingleton, director of training organisation Synolos, which was shortlisted in the The Oxford Times Charity and Community category, said: "I am really excited.

"It is brilliant news.

"We have a great concept and have expanded a lot this year.

"This will really help us move forward."

The winners will be revealed at a ceremony at the Four Pillars Hotel, Sandford-on-Thames, on June 20. One company will be unveiled as the Owen Mumford Oxfordshire Business of the Year 2014.

About 500 people are expected to attend the sell-out event, which will have former England rugby union international Martin Bayfield as guest speaker and compere.

The nominees are:

■ The Oxfordshire County Council Energy & Environment Award: Oxford Cryosystems, Long Hanborough; WMP Creative, Tubney; Zircotec, Abingdon.
 ■ The Oxford Brookes University Innovation Award: Sigmavision, Weston-on-the-Green; Ice Oxford, Witney; Aldens, Oxford.
 ■ The Oxford Times Charity and Community Award: Acre Training and Consultancy, Kidlington; the Response Organisation, Littlemore; Synolos, Witney.
 ■ The Ridgeway Digital Innovation Award: ABRS, Henley; Jack FM, Oxford; Greenredeem, Benson.
 ■ The Four Pillars Cultural Events and Tourism Award: Aston Pottery, Aston; Chipping Norton Literary Festival; Mill and Old Swan, Minster Lovell.

■ The Heart Marketing Excellence Award: ADS, Combe; Malory Band, Chipping Norton; Hook Norton Brewery, Hook Norton.
 ■ The Hays Customer Care Award: Brethertons, Banbury; Shawcity, Watchfield; STL Communications, Witney.

Knockout show to be put on by boxers

COMPETITORS will be pulling no punches at a national boxing competition taking place at Woodgreen Leisure Centre, Banbury.

Banbury Boxing Club, which trains at the centre twice a week, has teamed up with Cherwell District Council and Parkwood Leisure to host the event on Sunday.

Members of the club will be taking part in the supporting bouts for the England Boxing/ABA Junior Championship Quarter Final between the Home Counties and Western Counties boxing associations.

Tom Gubbins, Cherwell's senior recreation and sport development officer, said: "We have been supporting Banbury Boxing Club since it was formed in September 2012 and are delighted one of our leisure centres will be hosting such an exciting event."

"We would encourage as many people as possible to come along and support the Banbury and home counties boxers as they take on their competitors."

A total of eight male and female boxers from the Banbury club will take part in contests against opponents from across the country boxing over three two-minute rounds.

There will be up to ten championship contests, with the winners going through to the next round hoping to eventually be crowned England Junior Champion.

Tom Malcher, head coach of Banbury Boxing Club, said: "This is a great opportunity for our members to put their training into practice and experience a national competition with a home crowd cheering them on.

"This is the first time in history Banbury has hosted a national championship like this.

"We are looking forward to welcoming the county boxers and hopefully scoring some of our own victories, while offering a thrilling afternoon of entertainment for the spectators."

The event will take place at Woodgreen Leisure Centre, Banbury, on Sunday at 1pm.

Doors open at 12.15pm and the cost of entry is £5 pay on the door.

Banbury Boxing Club is a not-for-profit organisation offering safe and professional training for males and females aged between ten and 30-years-old.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Oxford, Banbury & Abingdon areas and Trevor is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Misfit band who are not in tune with anybody

FRANK (15, 95 mins)
Comedy/Drama/Musical/Romance.
Domhnall Gleeson, Michael Fassbender, Maggie Gyllenhaal, Scoot McNairy, Francois Civil, Carla Azar, Tess Harper, Hayley Derryberry. Director: Lenny Abrahamson.

In the mid 1980s, musician Chris Sievey gave birth to Frank Sidebottom, a sharp-suited comic persona with a large papier-mâche head, who was forever 35 years old and carried a hand-puppet sidekick named Little Frank.

This cartoonish alter-ego became ensconced in the Madchester music scene, made regular appearances on TV and famously gave birth to Caroline Aherne's mock talk show host Mrs Merton on one of his radio shows.

Having faded into relative obscurity in the 1990s, Sidebottom made a series of comebacks and remained a cult favourite on the music and comedy scenes until Sievey's death in June 2010.

Journalist Jon Ronson's memories of the man and the myth provide an unlikely spark of inspiration for Frank, a musical comedy that is, to be frank, too self-consciously bonkers for its own good.

Ronson's script, co-written by Peter Straughan, taps into the appeal of other outsider musicians like Daniel Johnston and Captain Beefheart as it dramatises the efforts of a group of misfits to record an album.

Oscar nominee Michael Fassbender, who was terrifying in 12 Years A Slave, spends almost the entire film encased within a giant fibreglass noggin, concealing his emotions from us as well as the other cast.

The unlikely narrator though is Jon (Domhnall Gleeson), a musically challenged, socially awkward young man, who composes lyrics in his bedroom.

During a walk along the beachfront, he encounters a band called the Soronprfbs, whose keyboardist has just suffered a mental breakdown.

"Can you play, C, F and G?" asks the band's manager, Don (Scoot McNairy), and Jon is hastily enlisted to play a gig that night where he must gel seamlessly with theremin player Clara (Maggie Gyllenhaal), French bassist Baraque (Francois Civil), percussionist Nana (Carla Azar) and quixotic lead singer Frank (Fassbender).

The concert is a disaster but Jon keeps his place and joins the band at a rural Irish retreat to record an LP.

In this idyll, Jon discovers that Frank plays with madness every day and demands unachievable perfection from the band.

"Frank is, with all his issues, the 100 per cent sanest cat I've ever met," coos Don.

There are undeniable moments of fiery brilliance in Lenny Abrahamson's film, including a sexually-charged encounter between Jon and Clara in a hot tub.

But these cannot compensate for the lunacy that Frank wears like a badge of honour.

A scene from Frank, with Maggie Gyllenhaal, as Clara; Michael Fassbender, as Frank; Domhnall Gleeson, as Jon; Francois Civil, as Baraque and Carla Azar, as Nana

Banbury's Lloyd Sabin, who was unbeaten with 54

OXFORDSHIRE skipper Luke Ryan took 5-10 as Banbury stole an early march on their Division 1 rivals with a 60-run victory at Gerrards Cross under the Duckworth /Lewis Method.

The left-arm spinner sent Gerrards Cross reeling to 75 all out as they chased a revised target of 136 off 20 overs after a big rain break.

Earlier, Banbury had reached 107-3 off 28.5 overs after being put in to bat when there was a huge downpour.

Lloyd Sabin was unbeaten on 54 at the time, with his runs coming off 90 balls and including four boundaries and a six.

Nathan Hawkes chipped in with 31 at a run a ball.

It wasn't until 6pm that play was able to resume with the Gerrards Cross innings.

Team pull out a 14pt lead, after playing only game to be completed

Banbury steal an early march

Left-arm seamer Liam Manley made a double breakthrough by removing Matthew Watson and David Solway with the score on 17. Off-spinner Richard West (2-19) and Ryan then combined to work their way through the rest of the order, before skipper Jimmy Phillips picked up the final wicket.

And with it being the only game completed, Banbury are already 14 points clear of the their rivals.

LIBRA

Sep 23-Oct 22

When people invite you out, don't try to think of excuses why you can't go, but accept with an open heart and open arms. The Moon makes you more emotional than usual on Monday and you will be tempted to confess to things you'll regret. Count to ten and remember my words. You'll be glad you did when you see how many lives you've helped in the process. Ring now and I'll explain.

0906 585 4366

TAURUS

Apr 20-May 20

It isn't the hard times ahead that wear you out, it's the pebble in your shoe when you're walking that is hurting you. Throw off the inhibitions of past memories and begin again. Everyone has a past, it's beginning a new future that's the answer to your happiness now. You think you're being judged but you're not. Ring now so I can help you to clear your conscience.

0906 585 4361

SCORPIO

Oct 23-Nov 21

You're not so interested in money this week as you are the fame, compliments and notoriety you can get from your work. Long distance travel is well starred but brings with it a fair few problems and frustrations. Just remember, it's worth it in the long run. Flirting with faces who aren't free can prove your downfall. Find out the status of someone before, not after. Ring me. Let's talk love.

0906 585 4367

GEMINI

May 21-Jun 20

There is a really magical feel to your chart this week where things you didn't dream could happen stand the chance of becoming a reality. Why is it that you rule out the possibility of doing new things for yourself? Reach out and dip your toes in the waters of excitement. Chance encounters and meetings must not be passed by. Dare to ask for that number. Ring now for courage.

SAGITTARIUS

Nov 22-Dec 21

I think that you've learnt a lot from the last few days. You're had to take in a lot of information which you weren't ready for and you haven't had the time to process what it means to your future. You do know how it makes you feel and what needs to be done though, so act on those gut instincts. Ring now to hear how Venus favours you getting an apology by Friday.

0906 585 4368

CANCER

Jun 21-Jul 22

You can't take any more lies can you Cancer? Why then are you allowing yourself to be in the company of the person who has and will continue to prove so draining? Move on and mix with a better crowd, before you waste any more of your valuable time. The home may cost you more than you'd planned but don't cut corners, or it will end up costing you a fortune. Ring now for a full reading.

CAPRICORN

Dec 22-Jan 19

We are what we pretend to be, so we must be careful about what we pretend to be. You have been trying to impress other people for far too long now when it's only by keeping yourself that you will actually attract like minded people. Family prove annoying and want answers about your personal life. Word to the wise. They already know more than you think! Ring now to hear how.

0906 585 4369

LEO

Jul 23-Aug 22

It seems you don't yet know the full story of what did or didn't go on last week but by keeping company with one side you are giving the impression that you do. Stay neutral Leo. You'll find out why by Thursday when the truth comes crawling out of the woodwork. A great week to go for job interviews and take tests. Give me a call now to hear which sign can't help telling lies.

0906 585 4364

AQUARIUS

Jan 20-Feb 18

Happiness is within your reach, you just have to stop thinking in your company but just make sure you're not revealing more than is necessary about all that's gone on in your past. It's the future they'll be making with you. Ring now to hear why it's worth replying by phone to text messages at the weekend.

0906 585 4370

VIRGO

Aug 23-Sep 22

Although you have had pain and suffering in your life, you have managed to pick yourself up, dust yourself off and move on. This week someone tries to drag you back into pain and upset and it's imperative that you don't allow them to do so. You know who you are and you know who doesn't want to help themselves. Time you parted ways. Ring now to focus on good times.

0906 585 4365

PISCES

Feb 19-Mar 20

Don't decline invites but accept them. I can see you've needed to get out and blow off some steam for a few weeks now. Maybe if you allowed yourself to relax you would start to see clearly the answers you seek in life. Don't lie to cover for so called friends. The stars show it will only come back on you if you do. Ring now to hear why Geminis are important to your future.

CACI

Computer Aided Cosmetology Instrument or CACI (pronounced "casey") arrived in Australia at the beginning of this year.

Originally developed 20 years ago to treat sport injuries, CASI has evolved in to a non-surgical facelift machine. Reported to be popular with the Princess of Wales and the ever-youthful Cliff Richard, CACI transmits microcurrents to the skin via cotton-tipped probes.

"It's like taking your face to gym," says consultant Jay Ravrani "The treatment re-educates the muscles of the face, whilst firming and toning them."

CACI works by stimulating the Golgi tendon organ, a series of muscles fibres that act as a "kind of energy supply for the muscle," says Jay. "The probes gently lift and stimulate the muscles, increasing oxygenation and the production of collagen and elastin in the skin."

Clients describe the facial as relaxing, very pleasant and totally painless.

Celebrity Favourite

Today, The CACI system has an enviable celebrity following, including the likes of Madonna, Jennifer Lopez, Barbara Windsor, Martine McCutcheon, Michelle Collins and Cliff Richard, Most of whom can be seen endorsing the systems on CACI's adverts.

The Lunch

Time Face lift

Can you turn back the clock in the space of an hour ? These treatments claim to offer firmer, younger-looking skin in less time than it takes to eat lunch.

Corsa cuts dash with racer looks

By David Duffy

If you are something of a shrinking violet who likes their car to quietly vanish when you pull up in the office car park then save yourself a couple of minutes of your life and stop reading now.

Vauxhall's Corsa Sting has been designed with just one thing in mind — to grab as much attention as possible.

And that's not too difficult to achieve when your starting point is lime-green paintwork, that glows with a chilling post-nuclear radiance and large wide-boy white-finished alloy wheels.

Add a pair of matching white exterior mirrors and two Starsky and Hutch-style white sports stripes and no one will miss you coming.

Starting from £8,995, the Corsa Sting is clearly aimed at younger drivers, so perhaps the fact that its under-the-bonnet potential is limited is no bad thing.

For while the car has all the looks of a bad boy, or girl, racer, this is no pocket rocket. There is no terrifying turbo-charged power plant lurking under the bonnet, nor a raucous exhaust to upset the neighbours.

Power, in fact, comes from a 1.2-litre engine delivering a modest 85 horsepower, which is tuned for economy not power.

It is mated to a five-speed manual gearbox which needs a deal of work to get the best out of the engine.

What that means in practice is that this Corsa, with its speed-sensitive power steering, is perfectly suited to cruising gently around town and trotting along on cross-country roads. Under the garish exterior everything is perfectly sensible Corsa. Quiet, reasonably refined and well screwed together, you know exactly what you are getting in a car that is a near-permanent fixture in the UK's top-three best sellers' list.

Instrumentation is clear and switchgear is simple and straightforward, if starting to look its age. A decent level of equipment ranges from air conditioning and CD/MP3 player, to an aux-in socket.

The new Corsa features a signature chrome bar, carrying the new Griffin badge, stretching across the front grille, while a re-styled front bumper with a more prominent, wider lower grille gives the Corsa a bit of a cheeky grin.

Framing the Corsa's face are so-called 'eagle-eye' headlamps, which have also made an appearance on the Meriva. The units have a chrome finish and include daytime running lights as standard. New chrome-finished fog lamps and housings complete the picture at the front.

For peace of mind, Vauxhall's warranty, for the first owner, is valid for the lifetime of the vehicle up to a maximum of 100,000 miles.

Pound for pound, there are few hatchbacks on the road that will turn as many heads. What those heads might be thinking about you is another matter.

Nissan develops a car that cleans itself

NISSAN has begun tests on innovative paint technology that repels mud, rain and everyday dirt, meaning drivers may never have to clean their car again.

The specially engineered super-hydrophobic and oleophobic paint, which repels water and oils, has been applied to the new Nissan Note to create the world's first self-cleaning car.

To assess the real-world effectiveness of the super-hydrophobic as a potential aftermarket application, engineers at Nissan Technical Centre Europe will be testing the self-cleaning Note over the coming months in a variety of conditions.

Nissan is the first carmaker to apply the technology, called Ultra-Ever Dry, on automotive bodywork. By creating a protective layer of air between the paint and environment, it effectively stops standing water and road spray from creating dirty marks on the car's surface.

It's not the first time 'self-cleaning' technology has been used on the Note. The car already features a 'wash and blow dry' function on its rear view camera. This uses water and compressed air to automatically keep the lens free of dirt and ensure the Notes' safety sensors work in all conditions.

So far, the coating, which is being marketed and sold by UltraTech International Inc, has responded well to common use cases including rain, spray, frost, sleet and standing water. Whilst there are no plans for the technology to be applied to the model as standard, Nissan will continue to consider the coating technology as a future aftermarket option.

■ BRITISH drivers are happier with their cars than ever before, especially if they own a Skoda. According to new figures collected by Auto Express magazine's annual Driver Power survey, the average satisfaction rating for a car in the top 100 was a huge 88.36%, which equates to a 7% rise since the survey's launch in 2002. Skoda has done an incredible job this year, having taken the top three places with the Yeti, the Citigo and the Superb. The best-performing British car was the MG6.

■ SEAT is planning to launch a special anniversary version of the Ibiza hatchback on June 1 to mark 30 years since the first one rolled off the production line in SEAT's Zona Franca factory. Since then, the Ibiza has remained the Spanish car manufacturer's most iconic and popular car, with sales approaching five million across three decades and four generations.
